Dedication

Dr. Nellie Angel Smith

For over 50 years, Dr. Nellie Angel Smith, Dean of Women and Professor of Latin at Memphis State College, has dedicated her time, her talents and her strength to the college, to her students and to the cause of Latin. The many young men and women whose lives she has touched will remember her as a dynamic teacher and a helpful friend. Her co-workers and the Latin teachers of the South will long be grateful to her for her leadership.

It is fitting that as she has dedicated her life to education that we of the staff should dedicate the 1952 DeSoto

The Year 1951-1952 at Memphis State

Yale has its bulldog, Ole Miss its Colonel Reb and now the DeSoto staff is proud to present Memphis State's Timothy Tiger.

Tim just walked into the DeSoto office one day and said, "Look, I've been around here for quite a while now and I think it's time I got a little recognition." When he told us his story we decided he was right and now we'd like to relate it to you.

Timmy told us one day he was aimlessly strolling through the campus, coming from nowhere and going nowhere. His attention was attracted by a long line of people, and being a firm believer a line always leads to something ultimately desirable, he joined that line. This line led to another, and he found himself proceeding through a series of lines. And the first thing he knew a big fellow with a "M" on his sweater clapped a little blue cap on Tim's head and tugged a dollar from his reluctant hands. It was then Tim realized he had just enrolled in college.

From that first day life has been a series of hardships for our unfortunate feline. For instance, Timothy often finds himself frustrated by the unavoidable situation of having so many extra-curricular activities that his school work is a constant interference. His math teacher has had to caution him more than once about concentrating on the wrong figures. And his course load is so heavy that often he finds it difficult to spend more than four hours a day in the Den. But no matter how busy he is, our betailed pal always finds an opportunity to stroll over and relax with his friends. In fact, he often gets so relaxed he completely forgets to go to classes.

Tim finds most of his classes fairly tolerable except for physical education. This is extremely distasteful to him because it's run by a coach with a complete inability to stop counting while the class is doing an exercise.

But despite all the hardships Timothy has endured since his entrance here, there has been much joy. Tim likes it here and he wants to remain always. And somehow, we of the DeSoto staff believe that as long as Memphis State exists, Tim will be here. For Tim is more than the meek, confused little Tiger that appears on the pages of this book. These are merely sketches, caricatures of the real Timothy. There is actually a student here who is the embodiment of all the characteristics portrayed in the figure of the little tiger.

You say this character doesn't exist? Well, you're wrong. He does exist. He's on every page of this book. He's in the jubilation that follows a victorious football or basketball game. He's in the silence that follows defeat. He loafs in the Den; he studies in the library. In fact, he's an active participant in every event here.

Who is he? Why the answer is obvious. He's you, and you, and you. He's every student who has ever attended Memphis State since its beginning. He's the living, breathing spirit that has made State the fine, progressive college it is and will continue to be.

Timothy Tiger is the personification of every student who has ever made these halls resound with his footsteps.

Student Government

FACULTY ADVISERS: Dr. C. S. Brown, Dr. Mary Frances Gyles, Prof. R. J. Coltharp and Dr. A. S. Rudolph.

The Student Government Association which is the link between the students and the faculty has had its fourth and most successful year. One of the first activities sponsored by this organization was the dance given in the Student Center to welcome freshmen. The Frosh rules and regulations were enforced through the organization of the Freshman Court.

The Student Government Association directed elections for such honors as Homecoming Queen, Mr. and Miss Memphis State, Typical Ed and Co-Ed and May Queen, and the college entry in the Maid of Cotton contest. The group also sponsored the campaign for blood donations, which resulted in 210 students contributing blood.

An election commission, composed of 15 elected representatives, was established to direct such work. The Student Government Association joined in supporting Greater Memphis State program and brought many new members to its ranks.

Every student on the campus has had the opportunity to express his opinion through the Student Government Association on topics of major importance to each student—the honor system, the five-day week plan, the registration system and the two-party system.

The group is grateful to its faculty advisers who have offered many suggestions which have helped to make the Student Government Association the democratic and efficient organization it is.

CLASSES

Dr. Robert Anderson, director of the Graduate School, confers with his secretary, Mrs. Hallie Box.

Graduate School

The Graduate School began its second year in June, 1951, with over 260 students enrolled for the Summer Quarter. During these two years over 600 different graduate students have registered in The Graduate School.

The program of the school is primarily designed for teachers and school administrators. A major in Education is offered, with minors in the humanities, the sciences, the social sciences, history, English, geography, biology, chemistry, physical education, and business education.

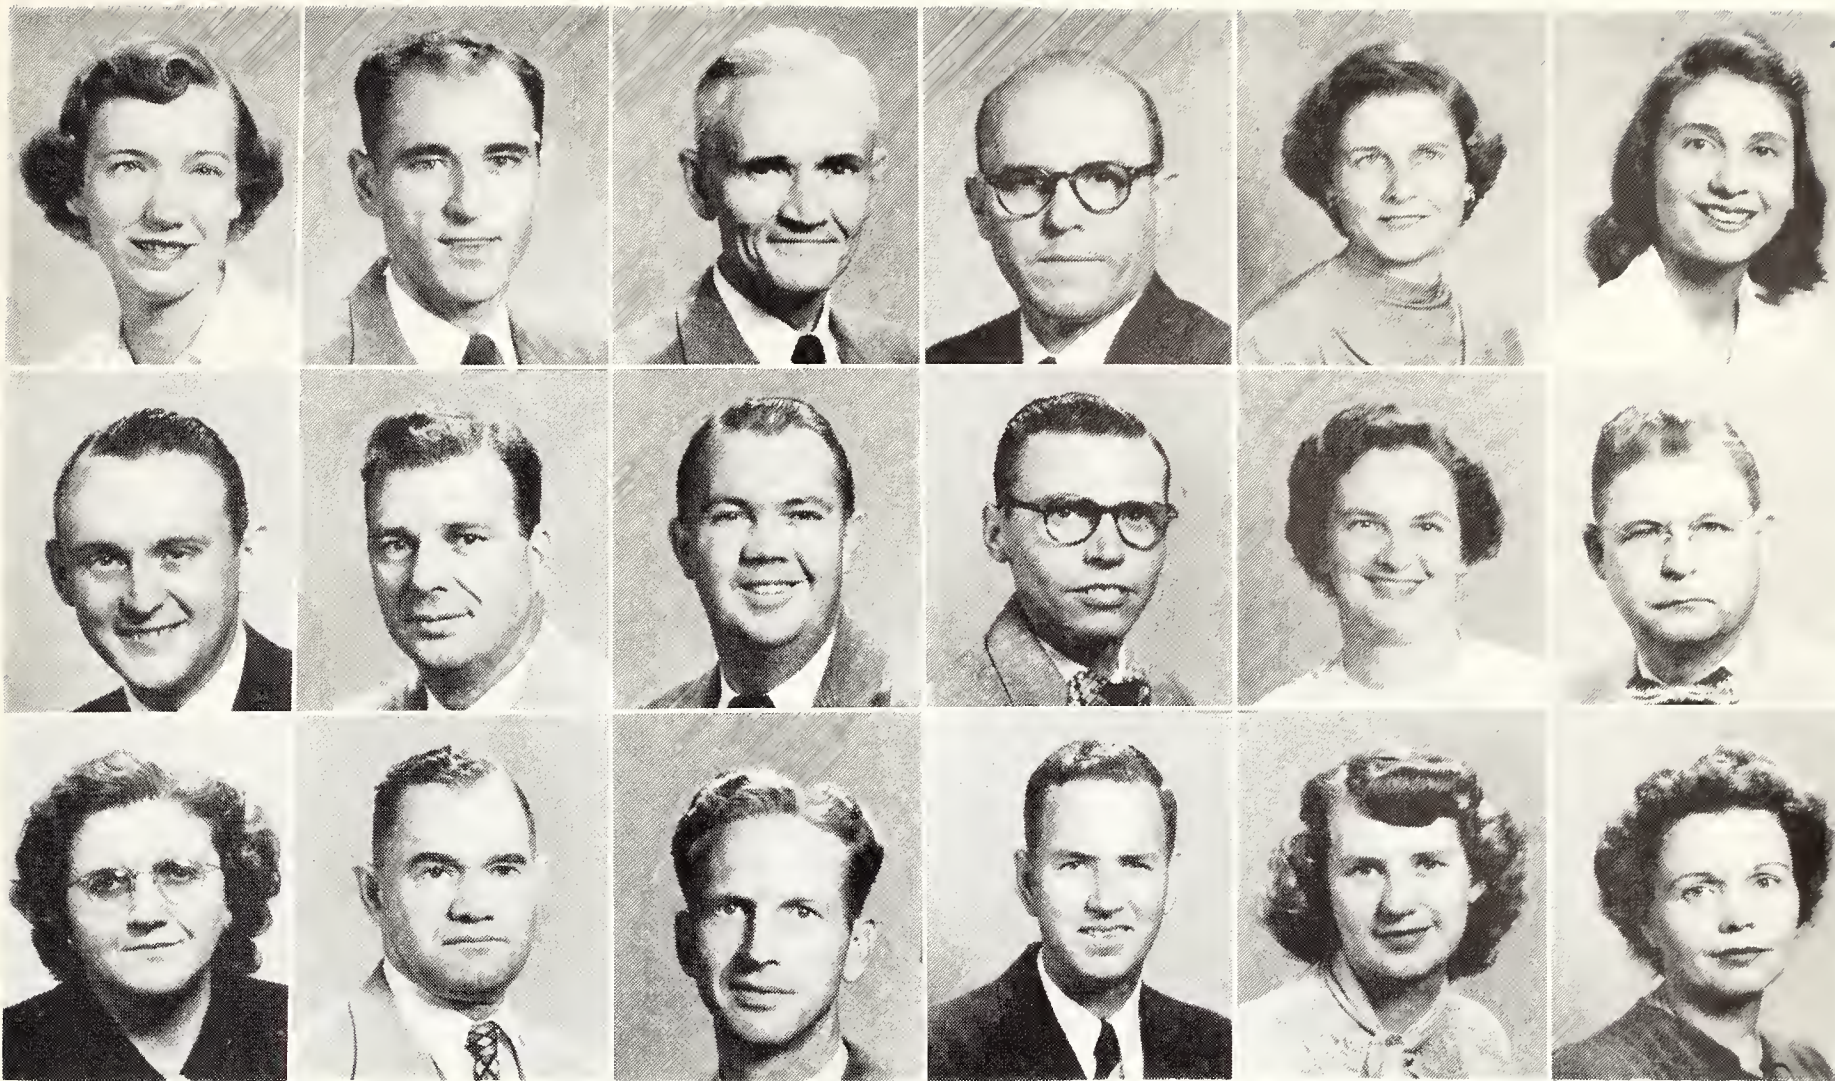

Three separate schedules of courses are offered in The Graduate School. One is designed to meet the needs of full-time graduate students; another for those professional people who can attend classes only in the evenings, and a third for those who can be on the campus on Saturday only. A limited number of graduate courses are offered by extension in other cities in West Tennessee.

Policies of The Graduate School are determined by the graduate faculty. A Graduate Council acts as a screening committee for these policies prior to their submission for faculty approval.

The Graduate Council includes the following: Holger W. Anderson, Robert C. Anderson, Aaron M. Boom, W. P. Carson, E. I. Crawford, H. B. Evans, Elton Fisher, G. H. Hayden, R. W. Johnson, H. E. Rumble, Bascom H. Story. Ex-officio members include E. L. Brown, R. P. Clark, R. M. Robison and President Smith.

Director of the Graduate School, Dr. Robert C. Anderson, addresses members of the 1952 graduating school as they gather for an informal session in the College Auditorium. This will be the second graduating class from the Memphis State College Graduate School.

Left: Members of the Department of Education are seated to assist students during registration period. • Right: The new cafeteria proved most helpful in the regulation program during the year, enabling all teachers to be in one place, saving students thousands of extra steps. Here we see several members of the Graduate staff, assisting students, while others wait for advice.

SATURDAY IS GRAD DAY . . .

At least it appears that way to the regular students. For Saturday the Graduate School goes into full-scale operations and students roam the halls.

Here we see a group before the "Center"—the office of Dr. Robert C. Anderson, Director. And from all appearance, it doesn't seem that the students find the program too difficult, judging from the smiles on their faces.

The Graduate School program continues to grow with each new session.

Seniors had many events to mark their year as an eventful one: election of "Who's Who", Hall of Fame, decided the class project, the dinner dance at the King Cotton May 30, rehearsing for commencement, measurement for caps and gowns, ordering cards, and many other activities.

The Spirit Trophy for the organization with the greatest percentage of attendance at Junior class meetings last year was awarded to the Independents.

Freshmen no sooner hit the MSC campus than they find that lines are the order of the day—to pay money, to find courses, to grab a bite to eat.

A Freshman Came to College

The DeSoto Presents the 1952 Beauties

On the night of January 17, 1952 the DeSoto staff presented its annual Beauty Revue to select a Queen and her Court of eight finalists for the Feature Section of the yearbook.

A tremendous crowd filled the College Auditorium to witness the eliminations which resulted in the judges naming Pat Campbell as Queen of the 1952 DeSoto.

Bill Trotter was Master of Ceremonies for the evening's program.

Judges for the annual DeSoto Beauty Revue had a problem selecting the top nine winners. Girls were viewed in swimming suits, street dresses and evening dresses before the decisions were made. George Pierce, left, is a staff photographer for the Memphis Press-Scimitar. Miss Sarah Elder is chief stewardess for Chicago and Southern Airlines in Memphis. In the center is Earl Moreland, commercial manager for WMC, The Commercial-Appeal radio station in Memphis. Miss Charlene Childress is head model at Gerber's and co-owner of Suncy Charm School. On the right is Lynn Aaron, president of the Memphis Jaycees and assistant manager of Dixie-Drive-It. These judges gave much of their time to aid in making this evening a success.

After the welcome by Bill Forester and the introduction of the judges by Master of Ceremonies, Bill Trotter, the 1952 Beauty Revue continued on its way for a night of entertainment. During the intermission a male beauty revue was held with each fraternity entering a candidate. After a hilarious parade before the judges, the winner, Johnny Burns of Pi Kappa Alpha, was presented a trophy and crowned "Male Beauty of 1952."

Ann Holmes and Barbara Goings, co-chairmen of the Revue, look over the Program.

Leon G. Hardison assumed the duties of editor of The Tiger Rag, MSC's weekly newspaper, at the beginning of the Fall Term. Under his leadership, the paper made many forward strides.

Griffin Shoffner, erstwhile head copyreader, took over as managing editor and served through the first two quarters. Georgia Lou Mason was promoted from society editor to associate editor. Barbara Hamner, former feature editor, succeeded her as society editor.

Jimmy Moore replaced Barbara as feature editor and held forth until his graduation at the end of the Fall quarter. John Parker, who had been sports editor for a year, took Jimmy's place during the Winter quarter. John, in turn, was succeeded by Charles Wilshire as feature editor.

Freshman Quentin Cooper became the new sports editor following Parker. Head copyreader's duties were assumed by James E. Killman.

The establishment of an ROTC unit on the campus necessitated a new staff position, filled by Donald Todd as ROTC editor.

As for the business department, Oscar Ed Reece, who had acted in the capacity of business manager for two years, was replaced at the end of the Fall quarter by Claude E. "Pat" McCollum. Reece graduated at that time.

Jimmy Keefe was added to the business staff as circulation manager during the Fall when Bernard Hill resigned. Assisting Business Manager McCollum throughout the year was Pat Nolan. She was elevated to advertising manager at the start of the Spring session.

The paper was fortunate in having an outstanding art editor in Charles W. Mueller, who took over after Fulton Klinke left school at the end of 1950-51. Charles also held an important place on the copy desk.

Photography was well taken care of by Bruce Grove. He served as chief photographer throughout the year. He was aided by Milton Manis and James E. Killman.

Others include Joe Taylor and Ronald Terry, editorial assistants; Jack Combes and Betty Pouncey, news editors; Warren Wilder, Thomas McIntire, Rebecca Gilkey, Charles Armstrong, Faye Paller, Shirley Farmer, Jimmy Hurt, Robert Alford, Don Brown, Dan Forrester, Dorothy Hall, Roselynn Bigbee, Wayne Adams, Thurman Kitchens, reporters; Jane Oakes, Helen Shearon, Tommy Rush, Tommy Morgan, Charles Stainback, Jimmy Cason, copyreaders: Leonard Jackson, Margaret Harrison, Shirley Gray, Billy G. Fred C. Kendrick served as faculty adviser for the third straight year.

Home- October 27,

The "Tiger Grid Machine" received top honors.

Signs prove helpful.

The fraternities and sororities came forth with many novel ideas for Homecoming exhibits, only to have the rains wash them out at the final moment. Sigma Phi Epsilon's exhibit came to life — a machine complete with moving tracks, smoke and recorded sound — plowing right through those visitors from West Kentucky. Sorority winner was Alpha Xi Delta—following a trip through "Tiger Tub" Homecoming visitors saw a clothes' line which pictured West Kentucky grid team "hanging out to dry."

WINTER CARNIVAL

Each year fraternity and sorority members join in presenting All-Sing, one of the most looked-for campus events. This year Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority and Kappa Alpha Fraternity won top honors.

The girls won their award with a medley of three tunes, which they called "Winter, Country Style." Nancy Redfearn conducted. The members were dressed in white gowns and carried muffs decorated with roses.

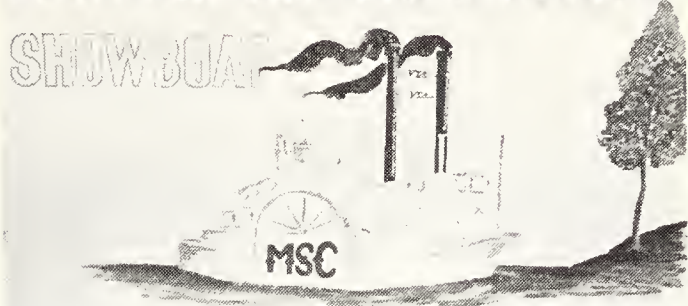

KAPPA ALPHAS BRING CUP HOME

Toby Sides directed his fellow-fraternity pals in four selections from "Student Prince." A mixture of tuxedo pants and loud sport shirts provided costumes. Judges were Mrs. Early Maxwell, MOAT singer; Burnett C. Tuthill, head of the music department at Southwestern, and Joe Cortese, general manager of the MOAT.

SIGMA KAPPA SORORITY COME IN FIRST PLACE

Top honors in the sorority division went to Sigma Kappa Sorority, which presented "Cindrulla," or better known as "Cinderella." Barbara Fox directed the stunt and took the role of the Prince, playing opposite Ann Powers as "Cindrulla." The setting, designed by Jo Ann Corbitt, evolved around a nursery. Phi Mu Sorority won second place with an Oriental Harum skit.

KAPPA SIGMAS COP "SHOWBOAT" PRIZE

"Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" provided the theme for the winning trophy in the fraternity division as Kappa Sigma boys went into appropriate costumes and thrilled the crowded auditorium with their "artistic" acting. Stanley Dillard directed the production and took the leading role of "Snow White." Mrs. Lewis Werne was the pianist. Kappa Alpha Fraternity won second place with a take-off on a modern wrestling match.

Activities

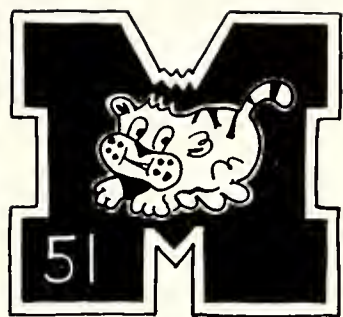

Activities at Memphis State College vary from the humorous to the most serious. Students approach the objectives of an education in a serious vein when they attend classes and prepare their studies. But all college work is not study. Some is play—such as Stunt Night. Some is social—the dances and parties that highlight the year for every sorority and fraternity. Some is religious—the annual Religious Emphasis Week which continues to grow in campus importance each year. And there are many other campus events that will long be remembered by students in years to come.

Cub Club

The Cub Club accomplished much this year. To start the year off with a bang, members distributed the new decals which were secured through a contest during the Spring Quarter last year. Each student was given one decal when he matriculated. The club hopes by putting these decals on cars of the students that the school would be widely publicized.

As usual, the Cub Club awarded trophies for the best Homecoming displays during the half at the Homecoming football contest. Also, the Cub Club put on a big pep rally and bonfire the night before the game. During football season the Cub Club decorated the stadium and held pep rallies before every ball game in cooperation with the cheer leaders.

During basketball season, the Cub Club promoted good attendance for the games as well as decorating the new gym for each contest. During the Spring quarter the Club secured a scoreboard for the baseball diamond.

During the year sixteen students from Memphis State participated in seven speech and debate tournaments. The first was a Discussion Tournament at the University of Alabama. They also attended the Magnolia Tournament at Columbus, Miss., T.K.A. at the University of Mississippi, the Regional West Point Elimination Tournament at Mercer University in Macon, Ga., the Southern Tournament at Jackson, Miss. The men went on a debate tour, visiting David Lipscomb, Vanderbilt and Murray State. At the state tournament in Nashville, Memphis State placed third out of nine schools represented.

Campus thespians kept the college stage busy during 1951-52, with one of the most entertainment-packed schedules of recent years. Enthusiastic audiences applauded a modern comedy, an operatic variety-show, a Shakespearean Comedy, a tragic opera, and a serious contemporary drama.

Eugene Bence chose for the season's curtain raiser a playful satire on life in a high-class insane asylum—John Patrick's delightful The Curious Savage. Rita Pierce portrayed the wealthy but somewhat erratic stepmother of the conniving, curious Savage family. Lily Belle, her much married, sophisticated daughter, was given a real Tallulah Bankhead treatment by Peggy Claypool, while Toby Sides and Carlton Mac-

Farland held down the roles of Titus and Samuel, a cigar-smoking senator and a third-rate judge. Joe Peebles was the managing psychologist of "The Cloisters," and a variety of neurotic inmates included Mary K. Baxter, Bill Gilliland, John Riles, and Phyllis Stimbert. Lily Belle, Titus, and Samuel trying to wrest the family fortune from their teddy-bear loving mother were led a merry chase by the menagerie of psychos to the delight of the large audience. The play ran three nights, beginning October 31. Bradford White was technical director.

The "Concert in Costume," presented January 22, was the result of weeks of planning and rehearsing by members of the Arabesque Club. Members made the costumes, publicized the production, staged and sang the program of well-known opera sequences in their original languages. Attended by some seven hundred pleased "long-hairs," this ambitious undertaking was as much a financial success as it was an artistic accomplishment, providing ample funds for the music scholarship offered annually by the energetic music club. The original idea was the brainstorm of Robert Kirkham who organized the program, sang the lead in the "Don Giovanni" scenes, and supervised the construction of costumes. Joe Peeples narrated the program. Toby Sides wrote the continuity and directed the production. The extensive publicity was handled by Dorothy Link and Joe Peeples.

The highlight of the college theatrical season was the First Annual Memphis Shakespearean Festival presented during the week of February 4-9. The three productions of "Twelfth Night" brought the bard's resounding poetry and broad comedy before the largest audiences ever to attend a Memphis State drama. With the full cooperation of The Commercial Appeal and Press-Scimitar, the Festival received the amount and kind of publicity which the college's dramatic efforts have deserved for some time. On Monday night, February 4, Marion Keighley Snowden, popular authority on Shakespearean music and dance, gave a musical lecture in the auditorium to set the mood for the ensuing week of cultural activity. Tuesday night Hudson Strode of the University of Alabama, noted Shakespearean public reader, presented for some eight hundred rapt enthusiasts a solo reading of "Macbeth." These events, together with numerous high-school assembly programs presented by M.S.C. drama students during the preceding weeks, had the community worked up into a cultural dither that brought twenty-three hundred people to see the performance of

"Twelfth Night," February 7, 8, 9. Leading roles in the comedy were taken by Joe Peebles (Malvolio), John Riles (Sir Toby Belch), Macon McCalman (Sir Andrew), Peggy Claypool (Olivia), Chlorita Gaines (Viola), and Bill Warnock (Sebastian). One of the most striking features of the Festival was the interesting set, an authentic representation of a Shakespearean theater, designed by director Bradford White, and constructed under the supervision of Eugene Bence, technical director. Dr. Don C. Streeter, head of the Speech and Drama Department, was the production co-ordinator for the entire Festival.

On April 24, 25, and 26, the Drama Department produced the gripping Lillian Hellman drama of a deceitful and mercenary leading family of a small town of the post-Civil War South, "The Little Foxes." Peggy Claypool, playing the role Bette Davis made famous in the movie, turned in a sterling performance as the cold, domineering Regina who in the course of the play wrests control of the conniving Hubbard family from her shrewd and equally crooked brother Benjamin (played by Toby Sides). The only breath of life in this poignant character study was Regina's charming daughter Zan, portrayed with effervescent sincerity by Nancy Redfearn. Bill Warnock and Jack Peterson were effective in the taxing roles of Horace, Regina's invalid husband, and Oscar, the brow-beaten sidekick of his ruthless brother Ben. The extremely challenging role of Birdie, the frustrated Southern belle whose emotional growth had stopped when the Hubbard foxes had taken over her father's plantation, cotton, and daughter some twenty years before, was capably handled by Phyllis Stimbert. Eugene Bence directed the powerful drama and Bradford White was technical director.

On May 21, 22, 23, the Music and Drama Departments presented their annual cooperative opera production, Leoncavallo's tragic opera "I Pagliacci." Singing the role that Caruso immortalized, Ed Bousson will be remembered for his dramatic rendition of "Vesti la Giubba," Nancy Coltharp sang the soprano lead Nedda, and Donald Musser as Tonio sang the famous prologue. Others in the cast were Bobby Kirkham and Toby Sides. Paul Eaheart conducted the thirty-five piece orchestra and Don Streeter staged the production. Brad White and Eugene Bence constructed the attractive set.

Alumni Activities

Prospects for a Greater Memphis State appear much brighter this year than in many years past, following the organization of "Greater Memphis State, Inc." This group includes both alumni and friends of the College who have as their objective the promotion of the academic and the general welfare of the College and to call to the attention of Memphis and West Tennessee the functions and services offered by the College.

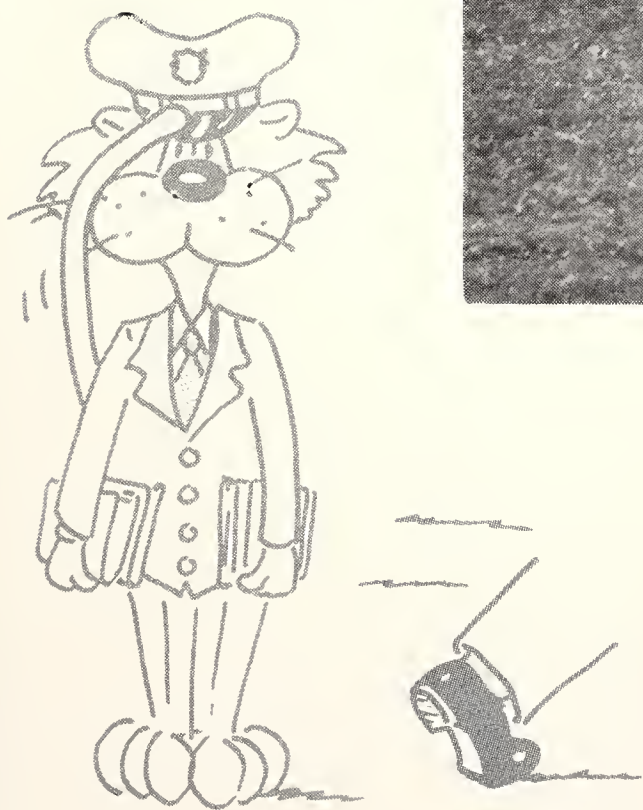

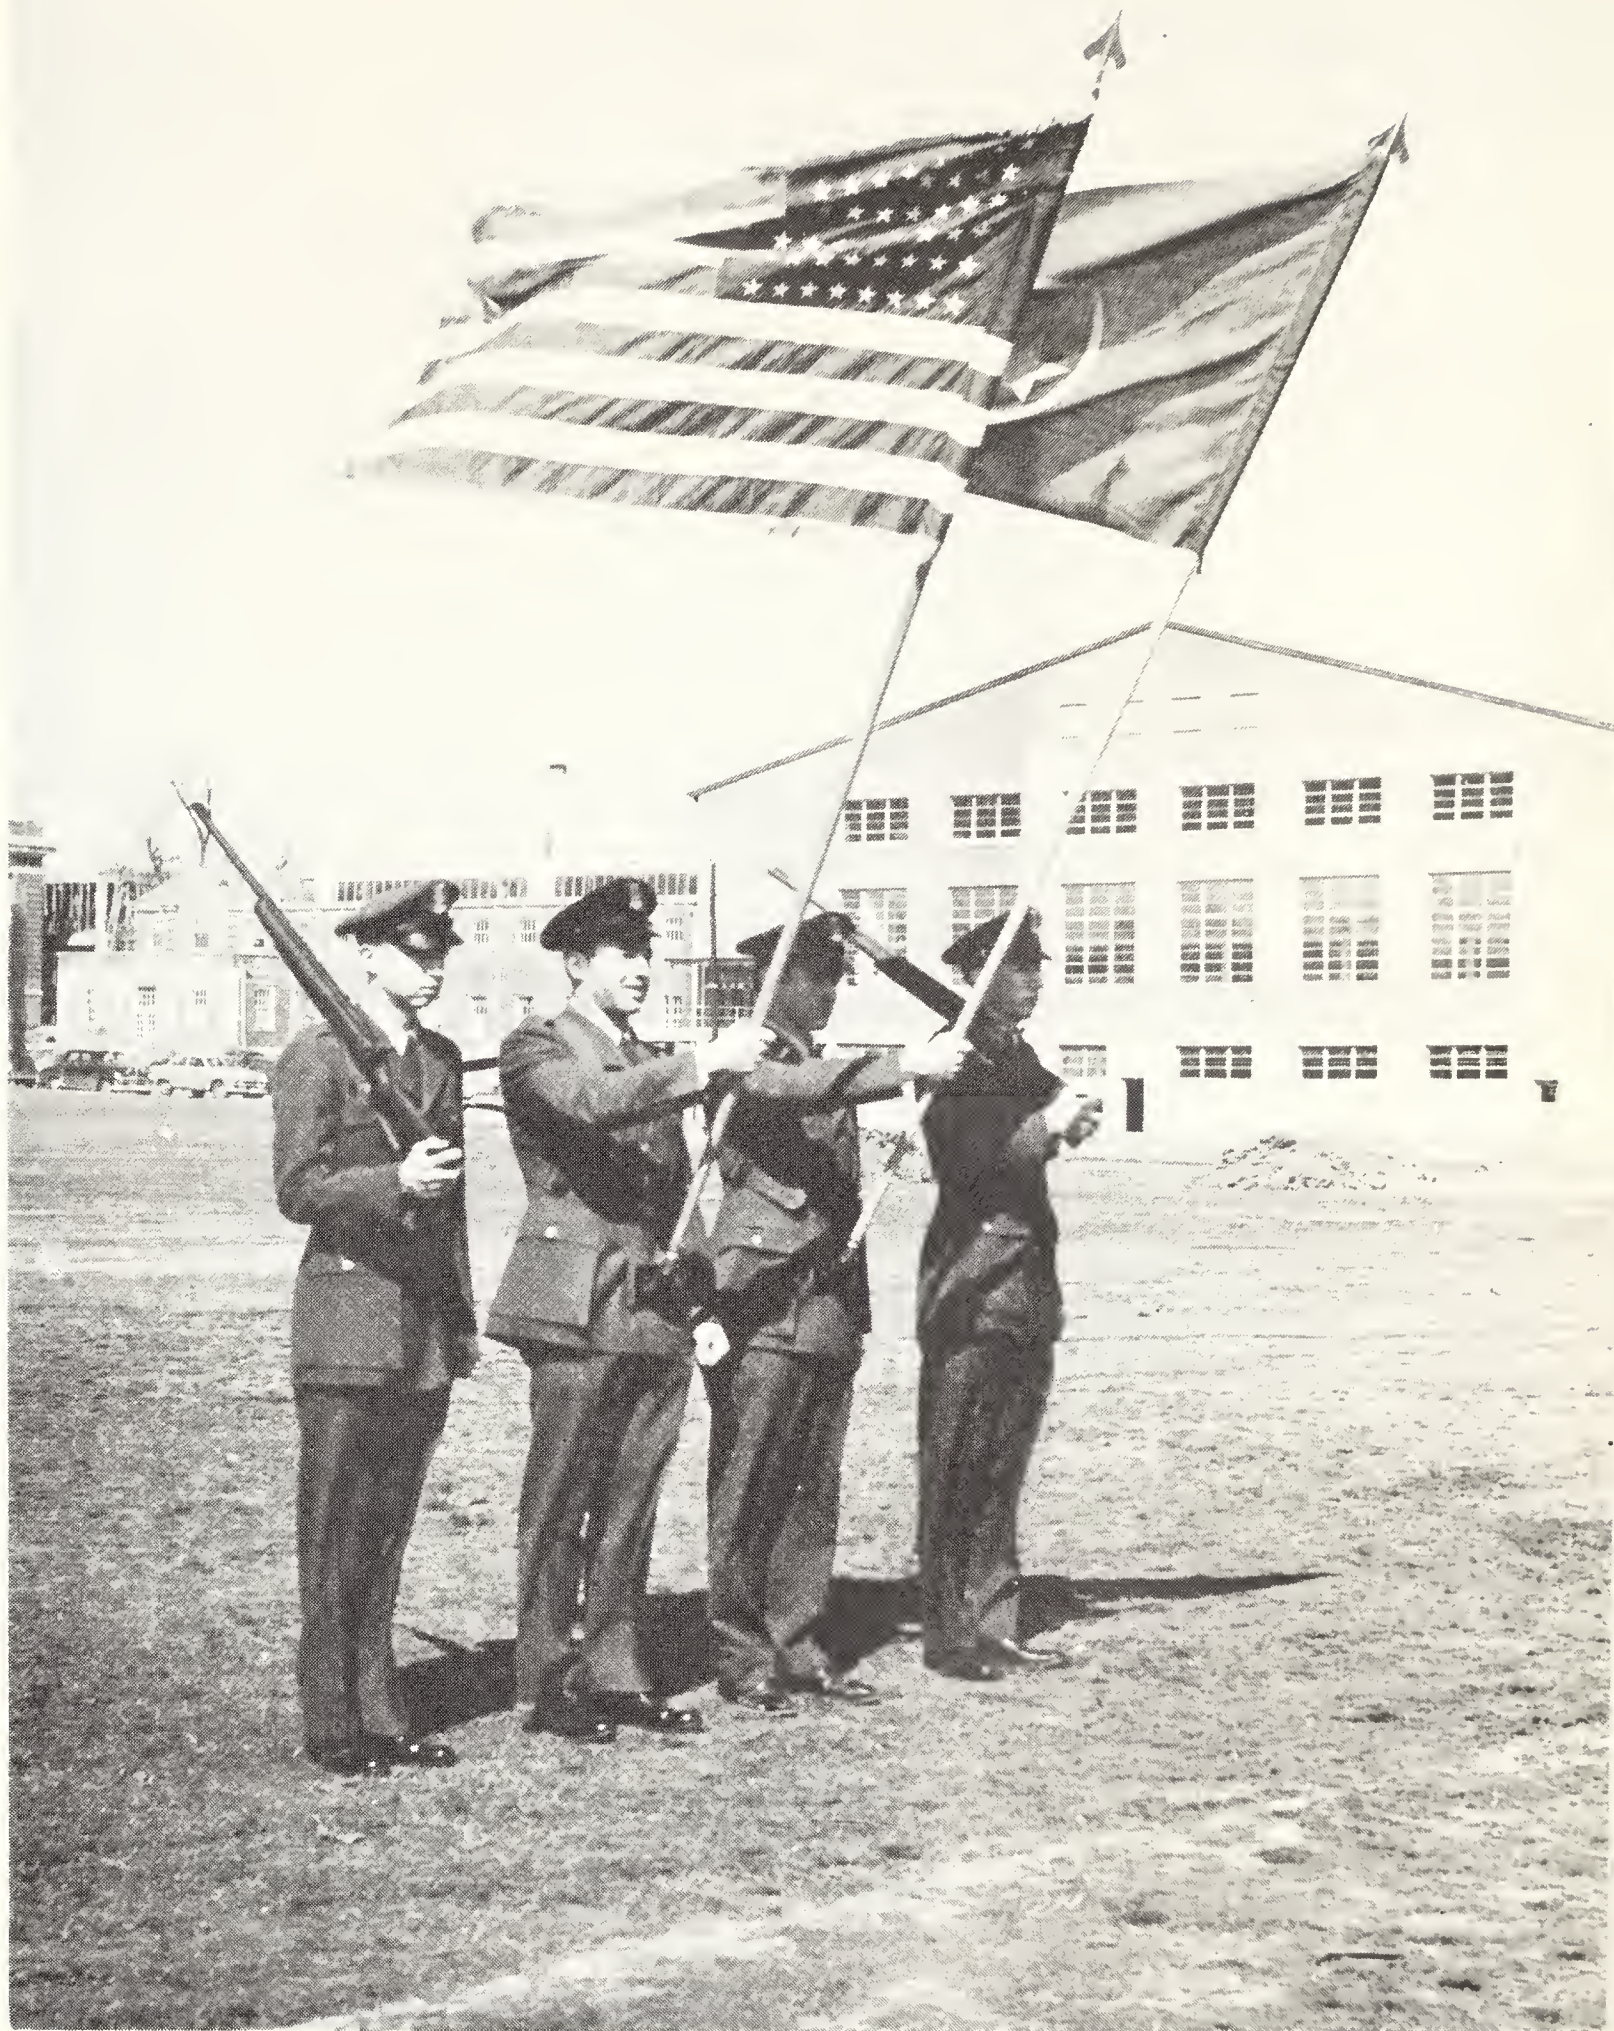

The group is closely related with the Alumni Association, both having similar aims. The Director of Publicity for "Greater Memphis State, Inc." is also the alumni secretary. He is Gene Roper, who returned to his Alma Mater this spring.

Friends of the College can contribute $10 or more annually and become a member of "Greater Memphis State, Inc." Each member receives a certificate.

With the organizational duties already under way, the work of this new group and the Alumni will be felt this year by all friends of Memphis State College.

Air Force

Reserve Officers Training Corps

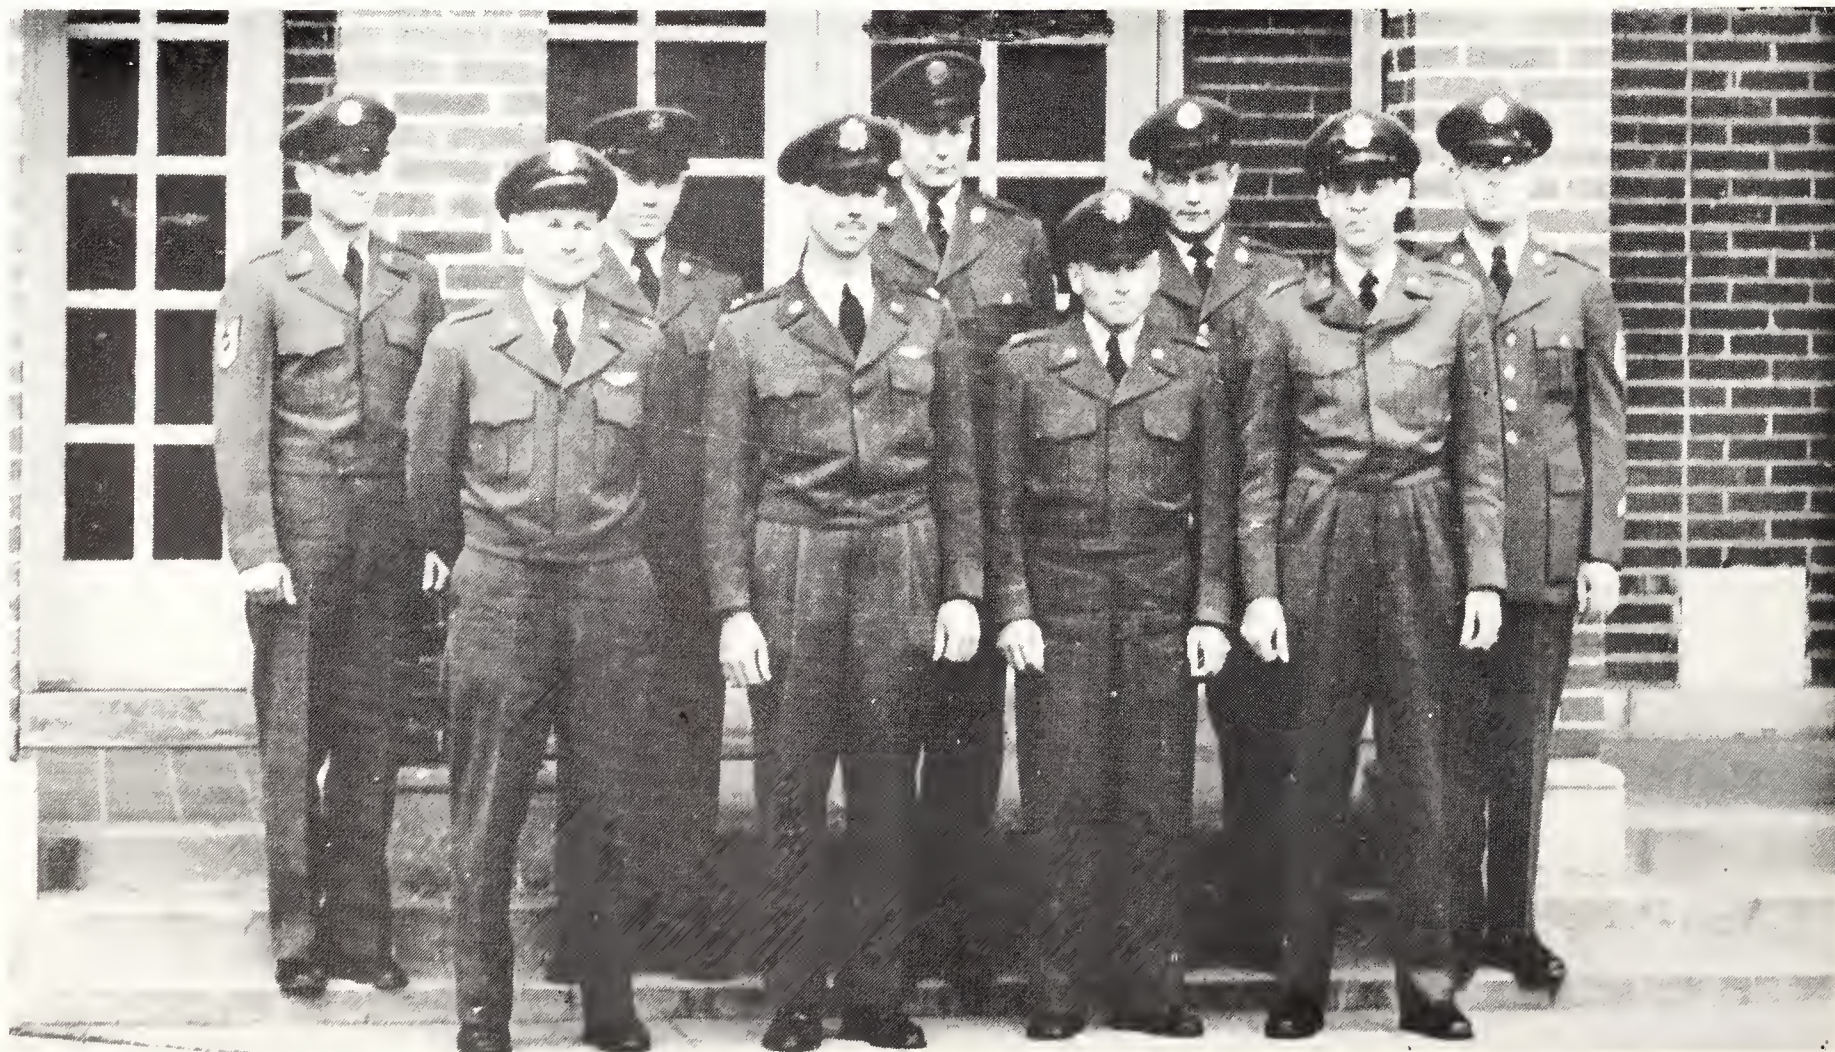

The purpose of the AF ROTC program is to select and train students who possess the character, intelligence, desire and sense of duty to become Air Force officers and responsible citizens. The objectives are to attract the highest type of personnel, to develop in all students an understanding of modern warfare and the place and function of air power in the defense of the United States.

Cadets at Memphis State are offered training in Administration and Logistics and Flight Operations. The unit here was established in 1951, one of 187 in the nation. It is doubtful whether any other detachment across the country started operation in an office designated: DEAN OF WOMEN. During the Summer, while the old cafeteria was being remodeled, the ROTC interviewed prospective cadets in an office belonging to Miss Flora Rawls. In September the ROTC became a male organization again when the unit moved into its new offices and classrooms.

Cadet enrollment for the Fall quarter was over 500. Through the guidance of the staff and excellent cooperation of the advanced class, the Cadet Corps was formed into a Wing organization composed of two Groups and six Squadrons.

The AF ROTC Cadet Corps has not overlooked the importance of military societies. The Arnold Air Society, composed of advanced cadets, has been an active organization. The AAS, assisted by the Cadet Sponsors, was the main spring behind the annual Military Ball held in April at the Student Center. The Rifle Team was also a hard-working group, giving prospects of a big season next year for the experts.

1951 Football Squad

Resume of Football Season

The 1951 football season at Memphis State College will long be recalled for the disputed catch of a pass in, or outside, the line in the MSC-Mississippi State tilt, for the near-victory over Vanderbilt in the final contest, and for the consistently bad weather which plagued the team both at home and away.

Co-captains Percy Roberts, long to be remembered by MSC students both on and off the football field, and Gene Meadows were selected to handle the team on the field this season.

As in past years, the season opened with a rather disastrous invasion of Crump Stadium by the University of Mississippi. Both MSC and the Rebels were expected to be just average elevens during the season, but both turned out leading elevens as the season progressed. The 32-0 score the visitors rang up was not indicative of the real tussle. The films showed that some four costly misplays led the visitors scoring. The MSC lineup lacked seasoned players, with five freshmen playing in the starting eleven.

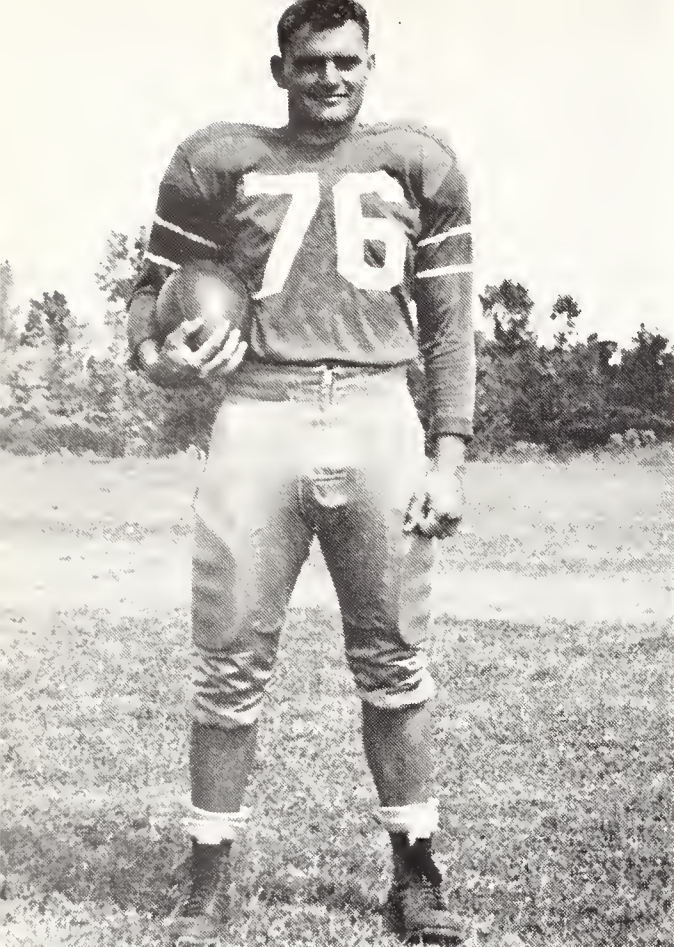

Ole Miss pushed over 25 points in the first half, but found the home team more stubborn in the second frame, scoring only once while the men of Coach Hatley threatened on several occasions.

This was the third straight year the two teams opened the local's season at Memphis. And in each contest the score had remained nearly the same, 40-7 in 1949, 39-7 in 1950 and 32-0 in 1951.

The opening defeat served only to inspire the MSC men to move over to the winning side of the ledger in the next four games, with successive wins marked up against Louisiana Tech, Southwest Louisiana Institute, Western Kentucky and East Central Oklahoma.

In recording their first local victory at Crump Stadium this season, MSC came to life after spotting Louisiana Tech 14 points and concluded the festivities on the bright side of a 26-14 score. MSC got off to a sluggish start, aided by their own fumbles and penalties. Ralph Messer went over for the initial counter, followed by Bob Gaston for six more markers. Curtis Brown kicked an extra point to bring the score to 14-13. Suddenly in the final period a series of plays from Bobby Cotham to Jimmy Cole to Gaston pushed over the victory marker. The insurance touchdown came in the closing minutes when Roland Eveland passed to Will Renfro. Brown kicked another point. Final, 26-14, MSC side.

This marked the turning point of the season. Freshmen had now gone through two rough games and the players were working together better.

Away from home for the first time, the Tigers came back from Lafayette, Louisiana with a 41-7 prize taken from the Southwest Louisiana Bulldogs. The score does not indicate the quality of the opposition. MSC players regarded the Bulldogs as a good team, and one of the toughest, man-by-man, that the team encountered. Although the Tigers scored three times during the first period, racked up 323 yards rushing, 87 passing to a combined 242 for Louisiana, the players knew they had been in a tough tilt. Messer scored first, with other scores coming from Red Hoggatt, Eveland, Renfro. Dick Kirmeyer kicked five straight extra points.

Victories continued coming the Tiger way when 1,300 turned out in another rainstorm to watch Homecoming activities. The visiting West Kentucky Hilltoppers cooperated, even if the weather didn't, in giving local fans a delightful 38-0 tally. Touchdowns were scored by Messer, Gaston, Bill Nicholas, Lou McClelland, Hoggatt and Jim Spitchey. Kirmeyer added two extra points. The varsity played little of the game, with the freshmen given the opportunity to gain more experience.

The one-sided scoring and the bad weather continued as the Tigers added a 61-0 win over East Central Oklahoma at Crump Stadium. Hoggatt scored during the first 45 seconds of play to give on-lookers an idea of what was in store for the evening. When the smoke had finally cleared, touchdowns had been scored by Nichols, Brewer, Brown, Hoggatt and Cothan. Kirmeyer added five extra points, Jeu and Graves one each. The freshmen received a good work-out, after the score stood at 48-0 at half-time. The youngsters continued to grind out the scoring and bottled up the visitors to maintain the whitewash.

The season's most exciting tilt was the long-debated MSC-Mississippi State encounter, which finally ended (at least on the field) in a 27 to 20 victory for the out-state visitors. The entire game is still being thrashed out with the emphasis on a fourth-quarter pass catch—was it in, or was it outside the line? The Tigers had worked the ball down to the Maroon 17 when Brewer hit Cole with a pass in the end zone and the partisan crowd went wild. However, "victory" was only to last for a few seconds, as officials brought the ball back to the 17, claiming Cole had stepped out of bounds when he caught the ball.

Memphis State Tigers thought otherwise and pictures tended to help the argument along. Alumni returning to the campus for future sporting events will be reminded of this contest for many years to come.

Regardless of the outcome, the Hatleymen made the visiting Southeastern Conference team know there had been a contest, a real contest. All the players came through in grand style for the Tigers, working smoothly as a team.

Mississippi State took an early 14-0 lead, but soon Cole took Verderber's pass on his own 35, raced 65 yards untouched for a score. Kirmeyer booted true, score 14-7 as the half ended.

Early in the third period the visitors scored again to up their margin to 21-7. The Tigers' second counter came from a 35-yard pass, Brewer to Nichols. Early in the final quarter Brewer connected with McLelland in the northeast corner for another touchdown. Kirmeyer added a point, bringing the Tigers within one point of a tie, 21-20.

And at this stage, the setting was prepared for the disputed "touchdown" pass to Cole. After the ball was called back, Kirmeyer vainly attempted a field goal, but the angle was too great. The final touchdown was added by the visitors, but by this time the heart had been eaten out of the Tigers' spirit.

Between this game and the final, with Vanderbilt, the Tigers met Chattanooga. The players were not emotionally aroused for the tilt, having the eye cocked Nashville-way. The visiting eleven from the southeast part of the state was rated over the locals, and brought a well-trained team for the contest that was played in one of the coldest nights the true school-minded sports fans ever witnessed in Crump Stadium. But Coach Hatley drove his men through their hardest practice in years before this meeting, and the strategy paid off—13-0 favoring MSC. Only a handful of the faithful stood by for the finish to witness Messer and Eveland scoring touchdowns and Kirmeyer adding the 13th point.

Vanderbilt's famous passing star, Bill Wade, had planned to rest the following week-end when the Tigers invaded Nashville. The Nation's No. 1 choice in the professional football draft found the situation otherwise, and was called upon to pass his teammates to a 13-7 victory after a tough afternoon. Wade didn't start, but after three minutes was in the game. He was bottled up rather well, but managed to complete three passes, two unfortunately hitting pay dirt for the Commodores.

However, State won in several departments, marking up 11 first downs to 10 for the victors, and returning punts and kickoffs in better fashion. The final yardage gained figures gave the winners 214, MSC 206. The Tigers made their single score with the aid of Gaston's fine punt return, line gains by Hoggatt and Spitchley, and the final push into scoring area by Bobby Cothan. Kirmeyer added the extra point.

At the conclusion of the season Coach Hatley had the following praise for his men:

"The 1951 football team played as a unit better than any I ever coached. They played according to their capabilities as well as any coach could expect. Their spirit should add much to the competitive tradition of the athletic teams of Memphis State College."

Coach Lambert plots a play for the coming encounter.

RESUMÉ OF THE SEASON

Coach Eugene Lambert's first season directing the Memphis State Tigers will be remembered for many events—the trip to Hawaii, the dedication of the new gymnasium, winning the district tournament and entering the NIAB tournament in Kansas City.

During the big tour to Hawaii the team won seven and lost five. The first contest was played Dec. 15 at the University of Idaho which played a bad host, defeating the Tigers 51-48. Two days later Whitman College in Walla Walla, Wash., scored a 55-52 win and the next night Seattle University came out on top, 66-63. On Dec. 19 the Tigers met Portland University for the first of two meetings during the season, and lost, 78-49. The same team had been defeated in March, 1951, by the Tigers in the Kansas City tournament.

Throughout these losses, scores were kept close by the big scoring of Creason, Hodson and Wallisa, the latter scoring 24 points in Seattle.

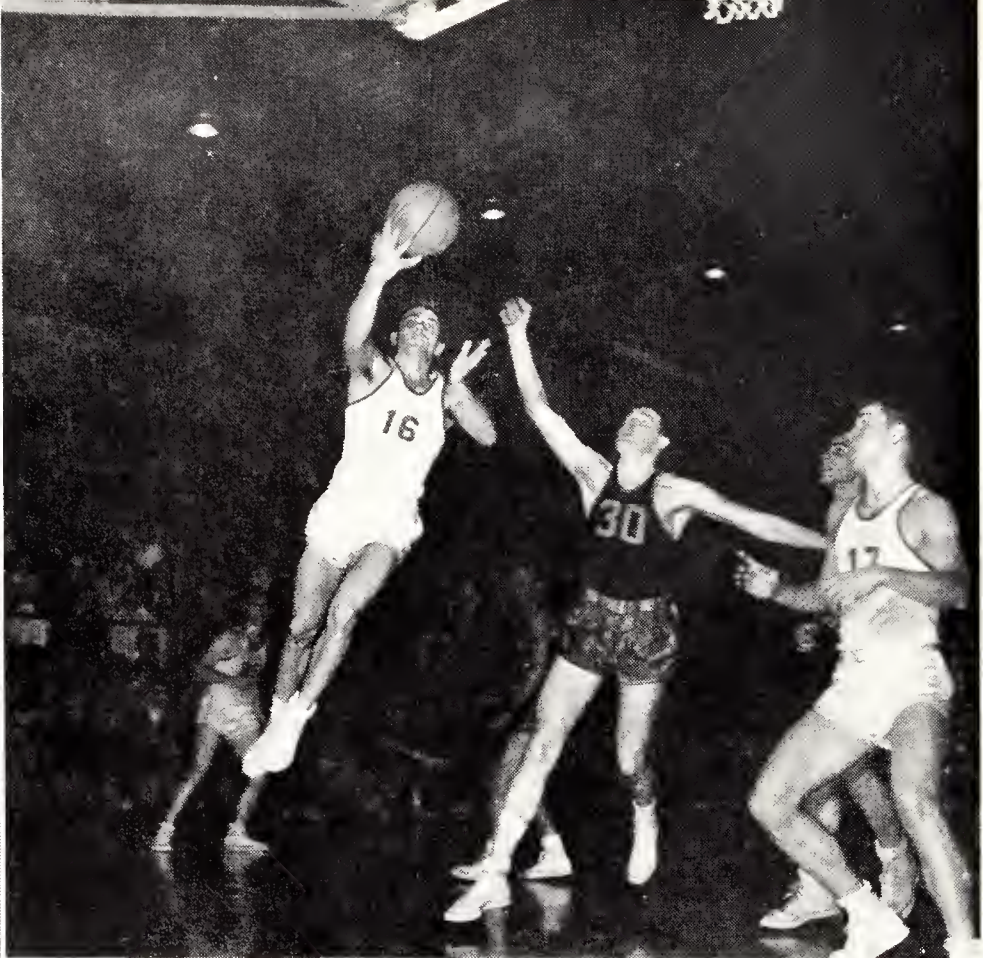

Players prepare to enter plane for trip to Hawaii.

Luck turned and the Tigers won five in a row, taking Eastern Oregon with Wallisa scoring 27 points; Eastern Washington, with Wallisa contributing 26; Larson Air Base, and two wins over Whitworth College in Spokane.

Then it was "off in the wild blue yonder" for Hawaii. The University of Hawaii in Honolulu scored a win over the visitors, but MSC won over Universal Motors and U. S. Pacific Submarine Base before returning to the homeland Jan. 6. No doubt memories of this trip will remain with the team for years to come, including meeting Bob Hope and other personalities.

Another season's highlight was the dedication of the gymnasium, marked by the presence of Governor Gordon Browning and the visiting University of Mississippi Rebels. The Governor had a better time than the Rebels, who carried home the sad end of a 47-42 score. The Tigers played a complete ball-control game, waving 90 per cent of their free throws to insure in-bound possession of the ball. While fans debated the psychology of such a move, they had nothing but good words when the game was over. The Rebels kept a close eye on Wallisa, and held him down to a mere 18 points for the night's high. But scoring is not all in a game. One sports writer said "Little Leon Kingsolver could account for only one lone field goal, but he played his most effective floor game of the year. He was faking on all sides and was slipping past the Rebs with a show of snappy change of pace dribbling.”

One of the upsets for the locals was the second encounter with little Austin Peay College. Earlier the Tigers won 75-51 without difficulty, only to visit Clarksville and lose 62-60 in a double overtime tilt. Billy Joe Emmons did his best, taking scoring honors with 18.

Billy “Bear” McClain had a big night against Middle Tennessee State College, scoring 16 points to lead the Tigers to a 61-46 win.

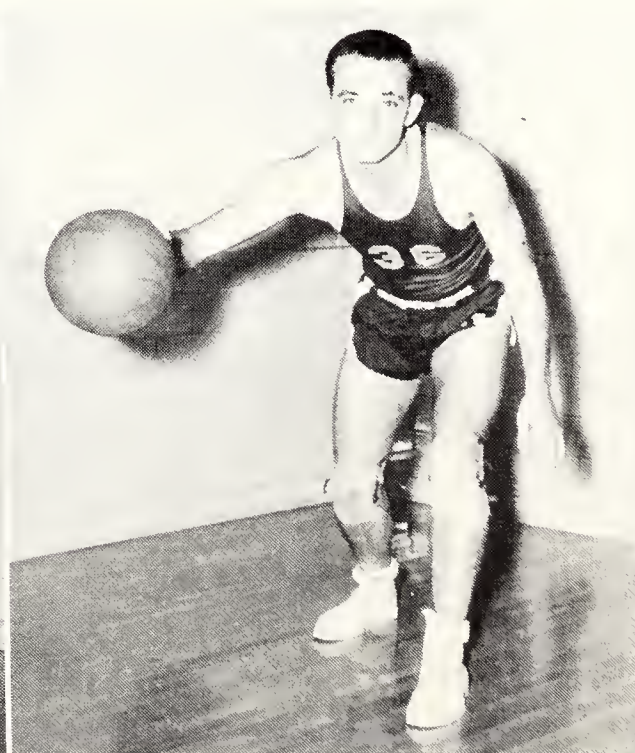

Wallisa had another big night with Mississippi Southern College, when he pushed through 36 points for the Tigers’ 79-57 win.

Coy Creason paced the Staters over Bethel College, 65-31, by taking scoring honors with 17 points.

Southwestern of Memphis proved good juicy, tender meat for the Tigers, offering themselves on the sacrificial altar for 85-39 and 100-39 setbacks. In the 100-mark contest, Phil Hodson had 22 to nearly out-score the S’Westerns. With the locals ahead 48-18 at halftime, the chant was "Come on 100." And it did.

For the second straight year, the Bengals represented the district in the NAIB tournament in Kansas City, after defeating Middle Tennessee 52-39 and Tennessee Tech 45-38.

But the Kansas City story was not pleasant. The Tigers went through the first round with ease, defeating Baltimore 60-39 when Wallisa scored 17 points for honors. But then Portland University threw its ugly face on the screen and the Tennessee Five bowed out of the tournament on a 73-49 setback. Emmons scored 14 points, Hodson 12, but all in vain. And so Portland not only evened the score, she went ahead.

When the final curtain fell Coach Lambert sadly faced the situation—six seniors had played their last. Coy Creason played superior ball, thrilling fans with fancy dribbling. Phil Hodson made up in speed and aggressiveness for his 5'9" height. Bob Griffis was an experienced rebounder and a good man to have waiting under the basket. Leon Kingsolver was a steady scorer and earned his fourth letter. Van Mathis played his fourth year too, while Roy Darnell won his second before leaving the scene. Best of luck to "you-all."

And a run-down on scoring showed Wallisa out in front with 556 points in 34 games, followed by Hodson with 484. Hodson had a picnic on the free-throw line, cyeing 150 good shots from that position.

Truly Dr. Eugene Lambert's first season at the basketball helm at Memphis State College will be remembered as "one of the best."

Alpha Psi Omega

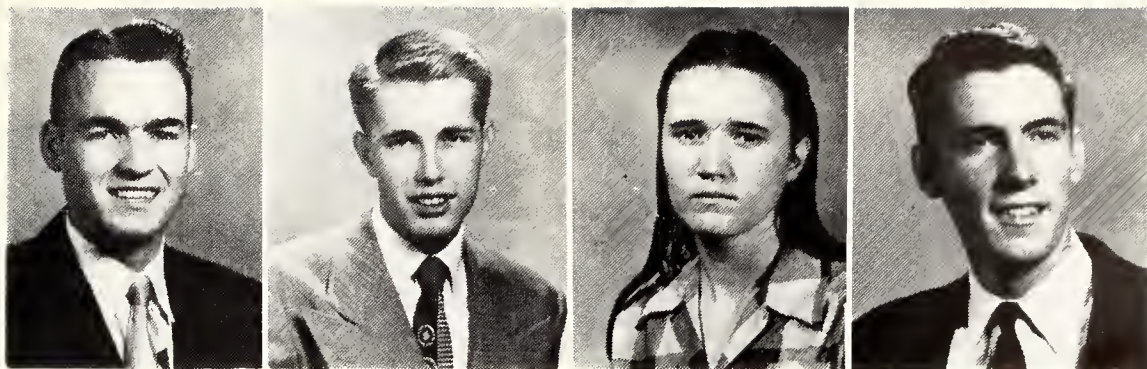

Sincerity, honesty and humbleness adorned the stage one night in February of 1951 when the National Honorary Dramatic Fraternity of ALPHA PSI OMEGA graced this college with the installation of the Mu Omicron chapter of that organization. The twenty charter members were selected on the basis of outstanding work in the field of dramatic production from the ranks of the Sock and Buskin club.

The purpose of the organization headed by Bill Warnock, director; John Riles, stage manager; and Vivian Rogers, business manager, is to secure for the Memphis State Theater nation-wide recognition for its efforts in the fine art of dramatics.

Productions of the past year in which members participated were: "THE CURIOUS SAVAGE," "TWELFTH NIGHT," and "THE LITTLE FOXES." Receptions during the Shakespearean Festival for Hudson Strode and M. In the Fall of 1951 Gamma Eta Chapter of Alpha Delta Pi pledged twenty girls who were soon to wear the diamond of a sisterhood which was in its one-hundred and first year. It was not long after these girls were initiated that the "Cupid's Ball" was held in the Continental Ball Room at the Hotel Peabody, at which time new officers were presented as they stepped through a huge glittering heart.

On the first weekend of the Spring Quarter the girls enjoyed a "State Day" celebration at Gatlinburg, Tennessee, where they met with members of other chapters in Delta Province.

One of the major activities was the philanthropic activities during the year with the Cotillion Club of Memphis.

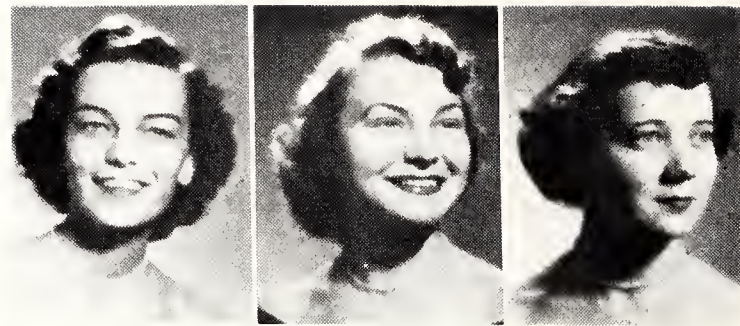

The year was brought to an eventful ending by many activities, including an outing at Rugged Acres.

Fall Quarter of 1951 brought a beautiful new sorority room to Alpha Gams, and soon it brought a wonderful rush week which gave us 12 new girls. Members will long remember the long and sleepless week centered about the "Creole Coffee," "An Evening in Paris," and the Holiday Inn party.

Events of the year began with a pot-luck supper, a slumber party at Dottie Link's, the All-Greek dance following the Mississippi State heart-breaker, the Christmas party, the annual Snow Ball December 21. The main event of the evening was the presentation of a dozen red roses to pledge prexy, Helen Robertson.

The successful months of the school year found Alpha Gam with Gamma Province Scholarship Tray, with second place in the Homecoming exhibits, and first again in the Pan-hell—I.F.C. All-Sing. Intramurals found Alpha Gams the top Greeks in the volleyball tournament, with B. G., Bunny, Jeannine, and Jackie named to the All-Star team. Football season saw Deanie as Homecoming attendant, and Billie Ann taking part as a drum majorette. Bunny was chosen senior class treasurer and Marilyn was elected junior class secretary.

Nancy could always be found with four or five Lambda Chi's as she was chosen Sweetheart.

Spring found Alpha Gams on their annual trip to Pickwick, looking forward to coming events in the coming school year.

Beta Omega Chapter

Beta Omega Chapter came to MSC on April 2, 1949. Since then AZD has had three active years. Looking back on 1951-52, we recall many happy memories. The good times we had during Rush Week at our Circus Party in the Peabody Hotel, the Dream Tea at Mrs. Trippeer's home in Chickasaw Gardens, and Rose Tea at Mrs. Spencer's can not be forgotten. We pledged 21 girls—girls whom since then we have come to love very much. Another happy memory is that of our "Wash 'Em Out, Wring 'Em Out, and Hang 'Em on the Line" display which won the trophy on Homecoming Day.

An additional amount of fun was packed into those last few weeks before Christmas; the party for pledges at the Optimists' Lodge and the All-Greek Christmas dance we gave in the new Student Center are, in particular, pleasant memories. After Christmas came that party given by pledges for actives, the All-Sing, and, of course, initiation. April saw not only the celebration of Founders' Day, but also the celebration of Beta Omega's third birthday. Then, of course, came the high-light of our Spring season—the Quill Ball.

There were other things, too, but these occasions will probably stay uppermost in our minds. We feel that AZD has truly had a wonderful year.

The national philanthropy consists of help in supporting the Maine Sea Coast Missionary Society. This year the Memphis chapter sent its annual Christmas box of toys for underprivileged children of that area.

An additional project is the postwar philanthropy at the American Farm School in Greece. Sigma Kappa sends funds to provide scholarships for deserving Greek students, the future leaders of their country.

Theta Mu

Theta Mu Sorority, a local social organization for women students, was founded at Memphis State College in December, 1950.

During the year 1950-51 members participated actively in on-campus and off-campus activities.

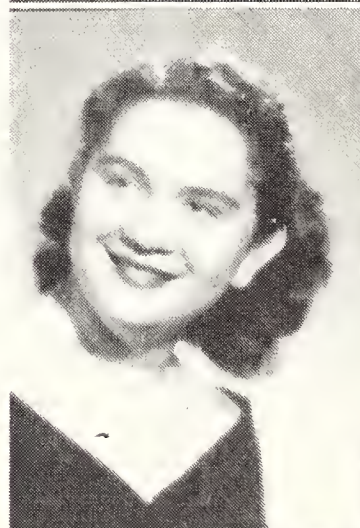

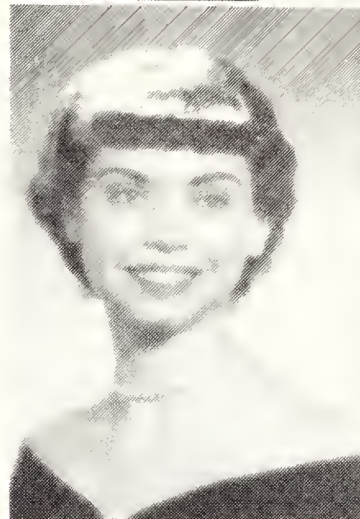

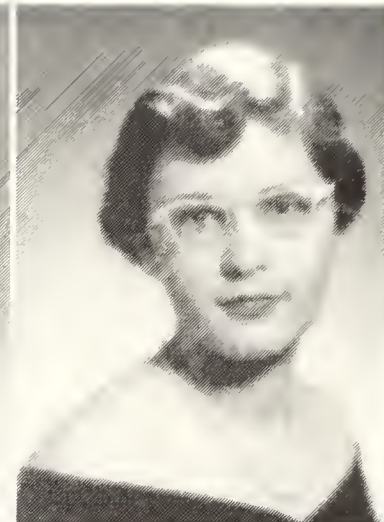

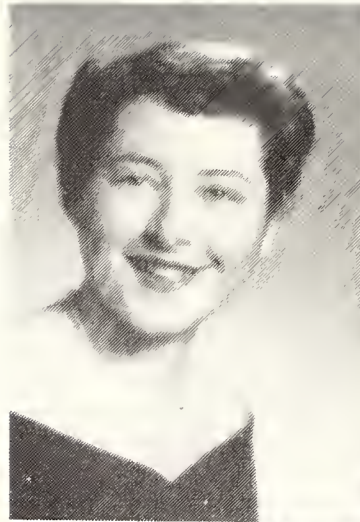

To begin its second year members elected a fine group of girls for its first pledge class. These girls, together with active members, entered the volleyball intramurals and did much philanthropic work.

Three of the major social events of the year were the Founder's Day Dance, the Initiation Evening, and the Sorority Week-end. These affairs were extremely successful and greatly enjoyed by all.

The young women of Theta Mu look forward to greater development in the future years.

History

Epsilon Pi chapter of Kappa Sigma Fraternity was chartered at Memphis State June 9, 1950. The chapter is the outgrowth of the Star and Crescent, which was organized on the campus in 1947.

Kappa Sigma is proud of honors which have been bestowed on its members this year. Gene Meadows was elected Typical Ed, and he and Percy Roberts were co-captains of the 1951 Tiger football team. Gene, Percy, Dan Forrester and Ronald Terry were members of Delta Kappa.

A successful rush season brought 50 pledges under the Kappa Sigma colors, of which better than 50 per cent were initiated after the Fall quarter. Rush activities were conducted out of Memphis for the first time.

The Mothers' Club and the Sigettes have been helpful in decorating the room and planning parties. The alumnus adviser, Mr. Clark McDonald; the assistant adviser, Bill Williams; and the faculty adviser, Paul Sisco, have been of great aid.

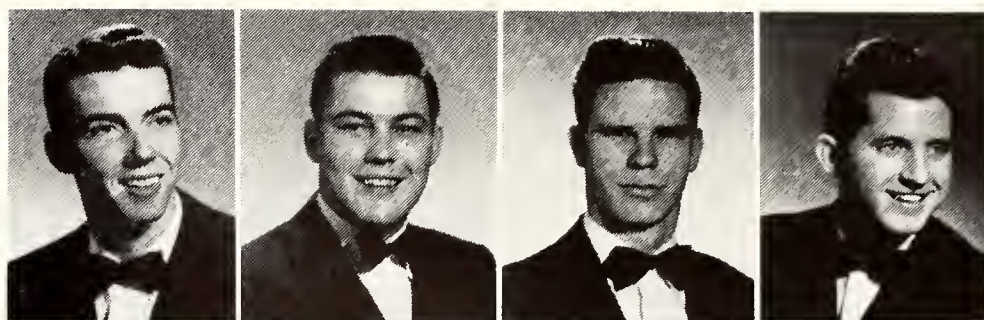

Highlights of the year include the annual outing in honor of the football team, the Star and Crescent Ball, the Mothers' Club Silver Tea, the volleyball championship, and a tie for the basketball championship. A dinner dance was given in May.

Pi Kappa Alpha was founded at the University of Virginia, and today has 112 chapters and a membership of over 40,000 men.

On December 7, 1947, the local fraternity, Phi Lambda Delta, was installed as Delta Zeta Chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha, the first national Greek-lettered fraternity on the campus. Phi Lambda Delta was organized in 1912 as the Forum Debating Society, following the Greek significance of their name . . . Mental, Moral, Social.

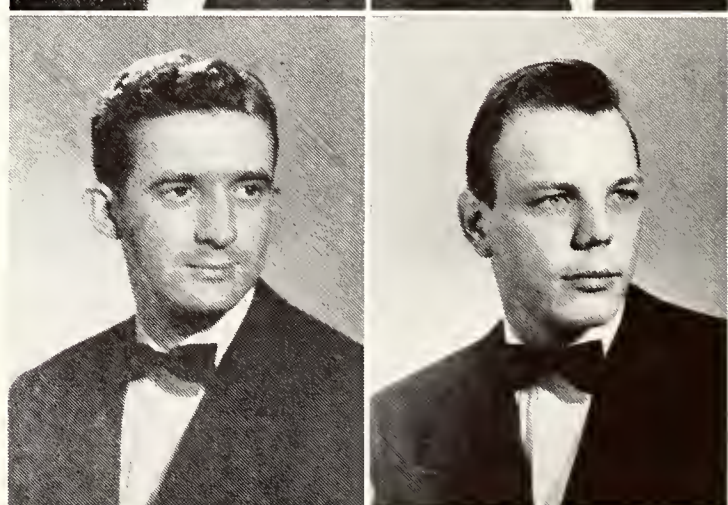

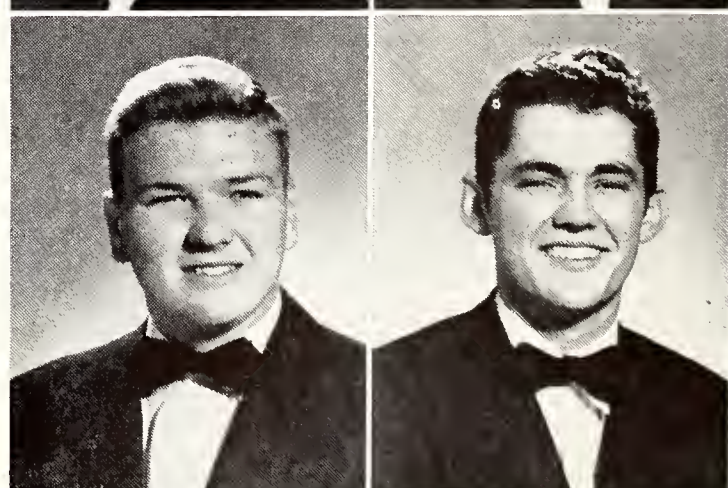

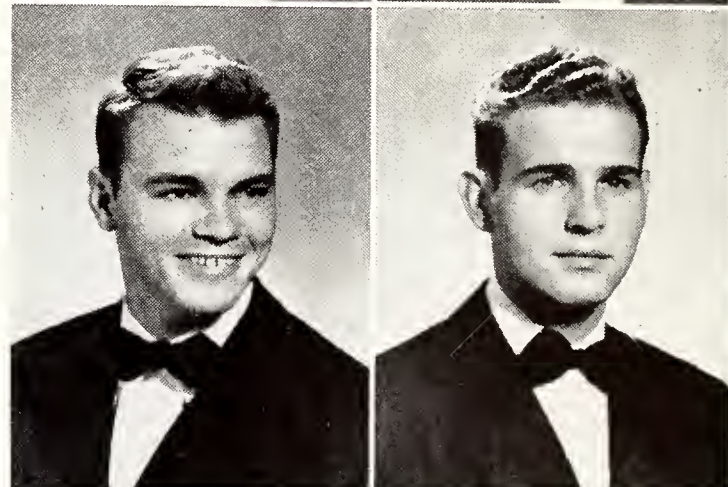

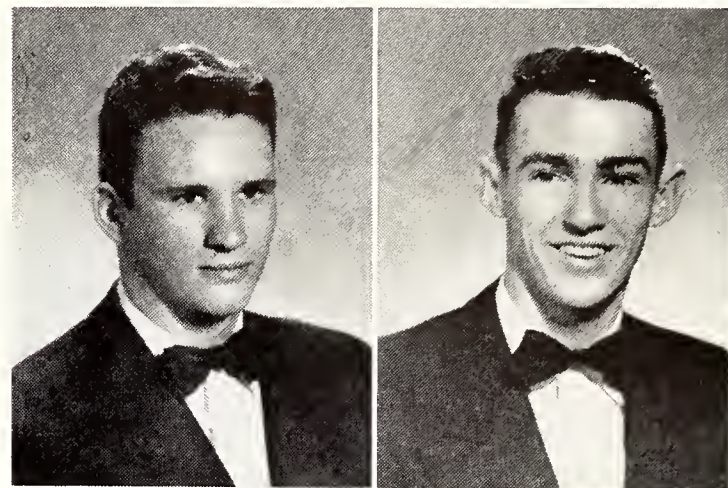

The fraternity has been active with the exception of the war years. Pi Kappa Alpha has been well represented in school activities. The Pikes assist in promoting sports by a tradition of honoring outstanding football, basketball, and baseball players each season. There are trophies for each sport which are placed in the new gymnasium.

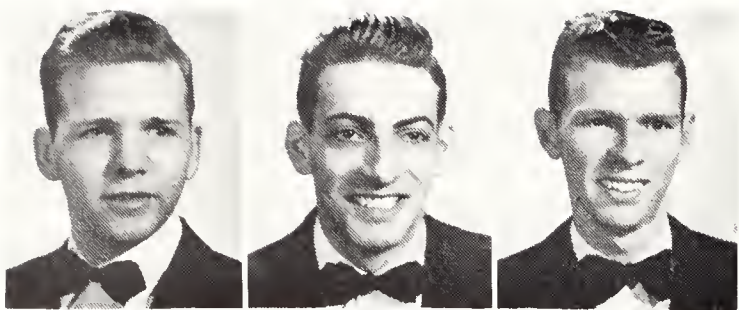

Socially, the Pikes are prominent for their social functions are always among the best on the campus. The outstanding events of the year are the Dream Girl Ball in December and Founders Day Banquet and Ball in March.

"The richest heritage of Pi Kappa Alpha is the character and devotion of her sons."

Association for Childhood Education

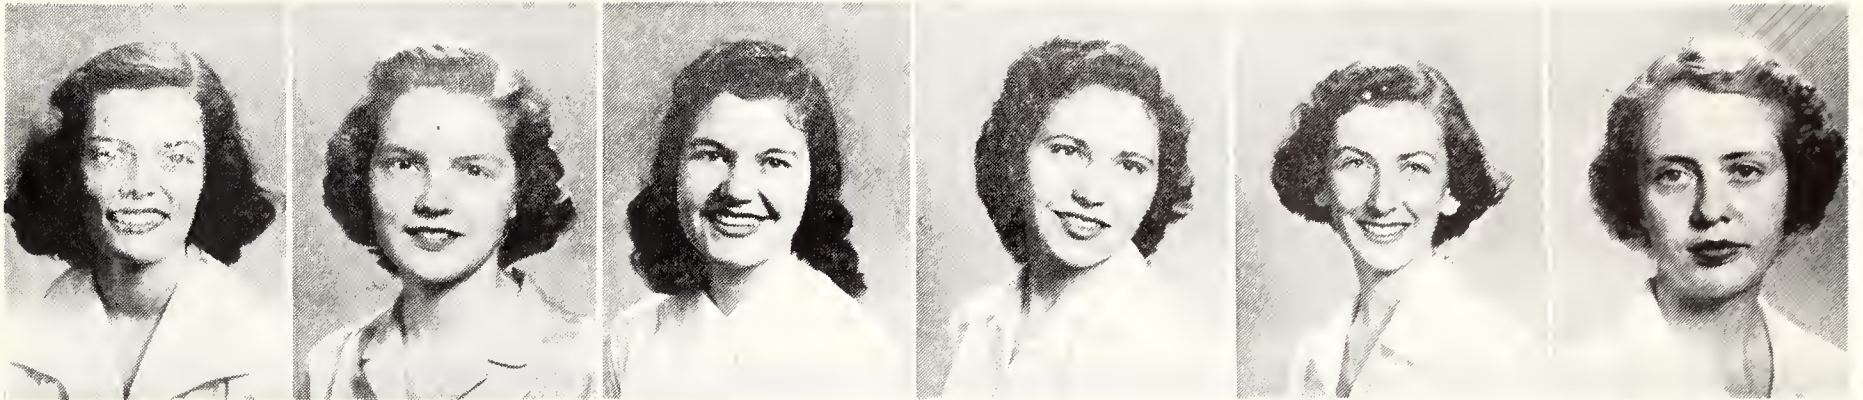

The Association of Childhood Education at Memphis State is an organization of prospective elementary school teachers—a student branch of the national ACE, comprised of teachers of grades one through six. The purpose of this campus group is to develop professional knowledge and attitudes through association in various projects and activities with members of the teaching profession, and with fellow students aspiring to the teaching profession.

The chapter began its program early in September by introducing all new elementary education majors at a Coke party in the girls' dormitory, and has rounded out its agenda through the year with the following activities:

Attendance at the ACE division of the West Tennessee Teachers' Association convention; a tea in honor of the Training School teachers; a buffet dinner given by Mrs. Myrtle Cobb, club sponsor; a Christmas card, gift and wrapping sale to raise money for attendance at conventions and purchase of extra teaching materials; an annual banquet attended by local and state educators, and a party for orphans.

Baptist Student Union

The Baptist Student Union Organization is open to all Baptist students on the campus. Noon-day devotionals are held daily at Prescott Memorial Baptist Church, to provide inspiration in the campus life of the student. The highlight of the group's activity was the annual spring retreat. As part of B. S. U.'s campus activities we sponsored several religious assembly programs and a welcome center for the freshmen.

Members of the Baptist Student Union take charge of an assembly program at the College. During the year, members enjoy their Retreats. In the center, we see Helen Singleton surrounded, while Eva Jane Wallace lends moral support to repairing the car. Every Saturday, members went to Foote Home and conducted a Bible Class for these youngsters, all of whom appear eager to learn.

The Ioka Wikewam Club has had a busy year. At the beginning of the Fall quarter the club held a tea in the Home Economics Department honoring all new students interested in the field of Home Economics. This was followed on United Nations Day with a tea for all foreign students on the campus.

The club held a spaghetti supper for members during the Fall Quarter. Following this, the members were busy with the annual fruit cake baking for Thanksgiving and Christmas. These cakes were sold and the profits placed in the club treasury to be used in financing activities for the year.

Also during December, Cleo Parker, president; Beverly Babb, vice-president, and Miss Alma Whitaker, club sponsor, journeyed to the University of Mississippi for the Province convention of the National Home Economics organization.

In the March meeting Cleo Parker was chosen Miss Home Economics of 1952. This selection was based on her participation in club work, scholarship and interest in Home Economics. New officers were also elected.

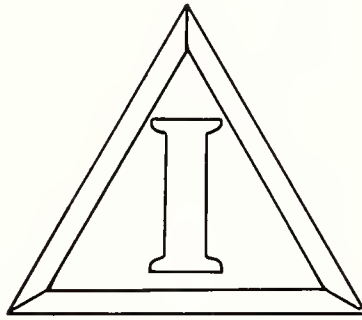

The annual Home Economics Career Day was held in April. This was for all high school seniors interested in Home Economics.

Ioka Wikewam has indeed had a busy year.

INDEPENDENTS

The Independents Club was organized at Memphis State College in 1946 for the purpose of providing a social organization for women students who were not affiliated with Greek-letter organizations.

This year was begun with an initiation tea at which fifteen new members were initiated. The group has taken an active part in homecoming, intramural forensics and sports, and all other campus activities. In intramural sports they placed second in the volleyball tournament. One of the highlights of the year was the all-student dance given by the Independents during the winter quarter. Another activity of this group is helping Le Bonheur as a service project.

Miss Virginia Tefft of the physical education department is faculty sponsor for the Independents.

The Social Science Club is the organ through which all students interested in this field may unite for the purpose of furthering their goals. The club has both a social and a subjective purpose. On Dec. 1, 1951, Joyce Cutsinger's home in Shelby Forest was the scene of a party for the club members and staff of the department. Outside speakers greatly aided club interest in meetings. With the help of our sponsors: Dr. Edward Noyes, Dr. Aaron Boom, and Professor Sossoman we have had a very successful year.

Our Appreciation

To the Photographers of the Memphis Commercial Appeal, the staff of the 1952 DeSoto desires to take this opportunity to express appreciation for the use of many pictures appearing in this book.

The co-operation of such men as these four photographers is of great aid to students producing such a volume.

Again, we say Thanks.

EDITOR'S NOTE

With the appearance of the 1952 DeSoto another successful year in the annals of Memphis State College draws to a close. The school year 1951-52 has been a particularly eventful one, and we of the DeSoto staff sincerely hope that the pages of this book will long serve as a reminder of these memorable days.

Into the preparation of the 41st edition of the DeSoto has gone many long months of tedious work. Members of the staff will not soon forget those cold Saturday mornings and afternoons during the winter quarter when they spent in our "spacious" workroom where everybody was constantly getting into another's way. Nor will they forget those Thursday nights where more conversation was exchanged by far than layouts completed. Nevertheless, we completed our job and that is the important thing.

This year more than ever before the annual has been the product of the cooperative efforts of our group working together for some unknown reason. But here, as in all cases, there are several who deserve special words of thanks. These are as follows:

Faculty adviser Dr. William H. Taft, whose constant guidance and ability with a typewriter have enabled us to meet our deadlines.

Business manager Bob Watkins, who has handled our finances and circulation.

Managing editor Bob Starks, whose untiring efforts and originality have helped in all sections of the book.

Associate editors Anne Holmes and Barbara Goings, who have been a constant source of ideas and whose handling of the 1952 DeSoto Beauty Revue deserves special acclaim.

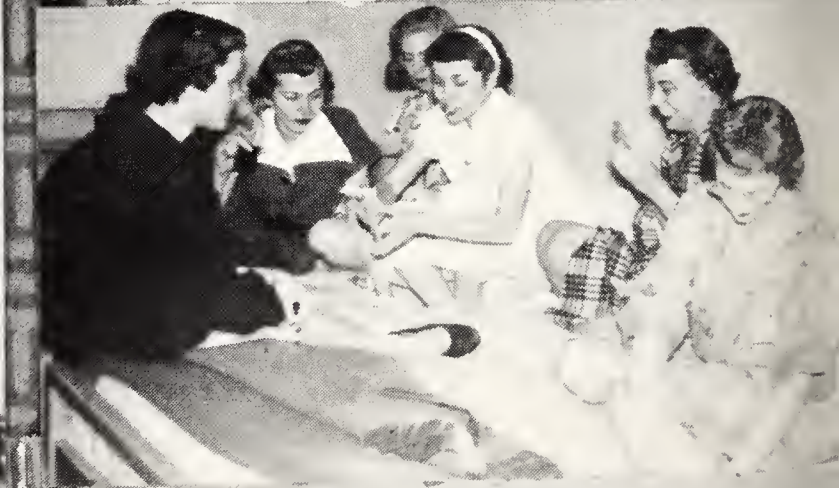

Staff artist Paul (T. Tiger) Marsh and photographer Henry Wenzler, who have worked long hours on the art and photos.

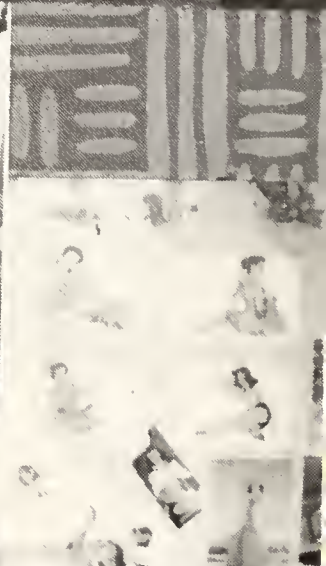

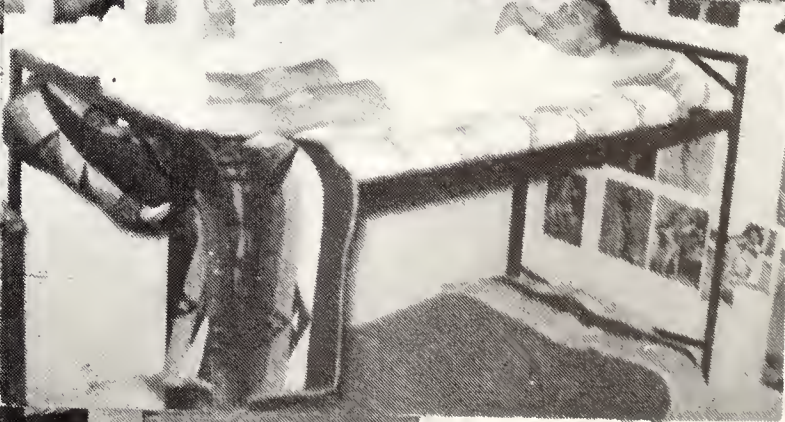

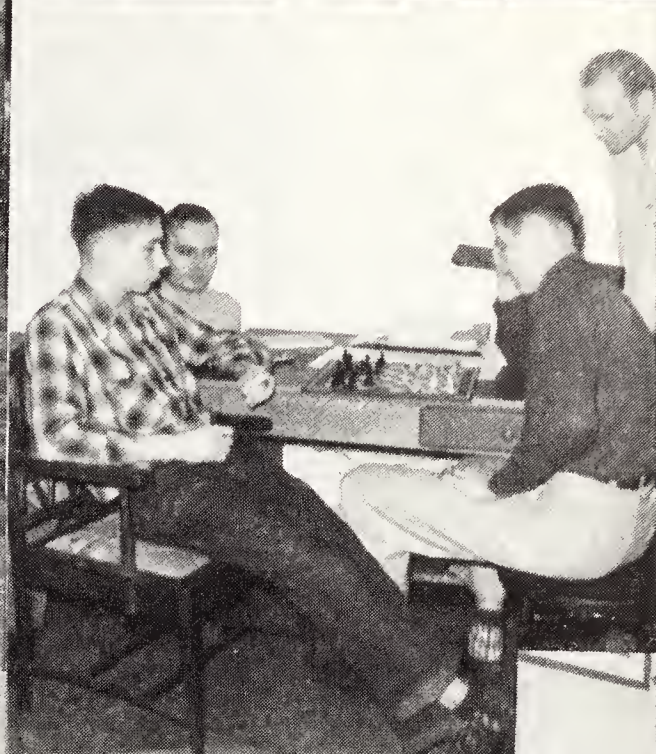

Class editor Barbara Fox, organizations' editor Anne Jo James, Greek editors Anne Albright and Bob Templeton, military editor Howard Ezell, and senior editor Pappy Latimer, who have all contributed generously of their time.

Further, a word of appreciation to all whose names appear on Pages 98 and 99 of this book. It is regrettable that for the lack of space all cannot be mentioned by name. The cooperation and willingness with which these have worked is a fine example of that spirit which has made Memphis State a great institution.

Finally, we want to express our appreciation to Bob Ledbetter of the Memphis Engraving Company and to Mike Capadalis of Toof's for their professional assistance.
